WILD: Wondrous Innovations and Living Designs

Children are introduced to the concept of biomimicry and explore how nature can be used to inspire new innovations. Uncovering the properties of color, exploring infrared light, and extracting iron from cereal are just several of the activities that allow children to reflect on the many ways that the animal kingdom has served as inspiration to mankind throughout the history of time.

Game On: Power Play

These activities were designed under the guise that traditional games can be modified using nontraditional approaches and converge the functions of mind and body while children work collectively in diverse teams. These games facilitate inventive and inquisitive-thinking skills while incorporating 21st century life skills such as collaboration, communication, and whole-systems thinking. Inclusion and creative problem solving are stressed, rather than winning or losing.

The Curious Cypher Club

Working in diverse teams, children spend the week decoding strange messages from a mysterious sender. Throughout the week, children are introduced to historical and mathematical codes while honing 21st century life skills of collaboration, creativity, and divergent/convergent thinking. Using Creative Problem Solving, children determine who is sending the coded messages and what the message sender wants.

I Can Invent: Edison's Workshop

During the week, children work in teams to create multi-step inventions using pieces and parts of broken appliances and other upcycled materials. Older children spend the last three days of the week creating multi-step, Rube Goldberg-type machines that solve a given challenge while younger children create multi-step, ball-rolling machines. Both age groups use and develop creative and critical-thinking skills as they encounter problems or unfamiliar situations throughout the week.

Reach For Fashion

321411

Instructor: Giovanni Capato

We will design and create an outfit and on the last day, have a Fashion Show! We will be learning sewing basics, cutting out a pattern and basic stitches. We will also talk about the history of fashion, fashion today and learn about a WardrobeTree.

Simple Steps

Step one: Style. It starts with the question: What am I going to wear? - and the answer lies in a series of questions: What do I like? What do I have? What fits? What do I need? How can I get the most out of what I already own?

Step Two: Elements. (color, fabric, texture) which, in turn, will establish your own personal style.

Step Three: Clothes. The third and final step is how you choose, mix and use your clothes. Going through the essentials, from first layer to out-of-doors.

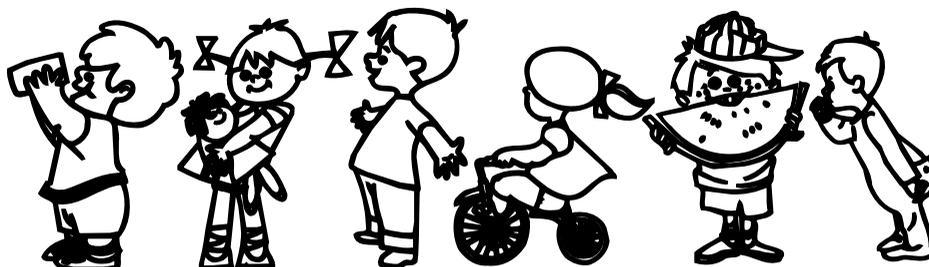

Giovanni has designed for Boston Ballet, Brazil's Madi Gras and Miss America Organization contestants.
